EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Early Foods is a Bengaluru clean-label baby and toddler food brand running 30 live Google creatives under Early Foods Pvt Ltd - a solid paid base in a category where trust is the entire purchase decision. The brand also runs a global storefront (global.earlyfoods.com). The leak is message-to-proof mapping: parents buy after they see ingredients, age-appropriateness and safety, yet the ad and landing path lead with the product rather than the reassurance stack that removes fear.

1. AD INTELLIGENCE

Google Ads (verified)	30 live creatives; advertiser Early Foods Pvt Ltd.
D2C setup	Shopify storefront with a global store (global.earlyfoods.com) - i.e. international shipping is already live, which is an unusual growth channel for an Indian baby-food brand.
Contact path on site	hello@earlyfoods.com / +91 8049670521.
Category dynamics	Indian baby-food is dominated by legacy multinationals on shelf; D2C challengers win on clean-label proof (no preservatives, no added sugar, millet-based, made fresh) plus trust signals - certifications, ingredient transparency, and parent reviews.
Buyer psychology	First-time parents research heavily before the first order and repurchase on subscription for 18-36 months. First-order CAC is amortised over a long, predictable LTV - so conversion rate at the first touch matters more than in almost any other food category.

2-5. CREATIVE / COPY / CRO / TRACKING SCORES

Creative Variety		5/10

Retargeting Depth		4/10

- Fear is the real competitor: parents do not compare you to another brand - they compare the risk of trying you to the safety of a known multinational. The ad and page should open with the reassurance stack: age-appropriate, ingredient list, how it is made, what is NOT in it, and parent proof.

- No visible parent UGC engine: the highest-converting asset in baby food is another parent's face and words. There is no visible system to collect, permission, and rotate parent videos into ads.

- First-order friction: in a research-heavy category, a trial pack / sampler bundle with a clear 'start here by age' path converts far better than a full-price single SKU.

- Retention not monetised: baby food is an 18-36 month subscription habit. A stage-based flow (6m/9m/12m/18m) with WhatsApp reminders and auto-replenish is the highest-margin system you could build - and it is not visible today.

6. COMPETITOR BENCHMARK

Legacy multinationals (Cerelec class)	Shelf ubiquity and grandmother-level brand trust.	Attack on ingredients: clean label, no preservatives, no refined sugar - with proof on the page.
---------------------------------------	---	--

Other D2C baby-food brands	Subscription bundles and parent communities.	Win with stage-based bundles, parent UGC, and global shipping proof.
Homemade (the real alternative)	Free, trusted, labour-intensive.	Position as 'homemade, without the work' with ingredient transparency.

7. 3 QUICK WINS (Implement in 7 Days)

WIN 1 - Trust-first landing path
 Rebuild the ad-to-page path around the reassurance stack: age selector, full ingredient list, 'what's not inside' panel, certifications, and parent reviews above the fold. Route each ad to the matching age page, not the homepage.

WIN 2 - Parent UGC engine
 Offer a starter bundle to 50 existing customers in exchange for a 20-second video ('what I feed my 10-month-old'). Rotate the top 12 as paid creatives monthly - real faces, real kitchens, zero production cost.

WIN 3 - Stage-based subscription flow
 Build 6m / 9m / 12m / 18m bundles with auto-replenish, WhatsApp reminders and a 'grow with us' upgrade path. Baby food is a two-year subscription - price it like one.

EXPECTED IMPACT

Metric	Current (live)	After Wins (est.)	Impact
First-order conversion	Product-first pages	Trust-first, age-matched pages	Higher CVR on same traffic
Creative proof	Brand-produced	+12 parent UGC creatives/quarter	Higher CTR, lower CPC
Repeat revenue	Ad-hoc repurchase	Stage-based subscription	Predictable 18-36 month LTV
Global channel	Store live, unadvertised	Test campaigns (UAE/SG/US)	New channel at low incremental cost
